

Someone said I my new sweater was ugly.

I was supposed to go out to dinner with my sister tonight and she called and canceled on me.

I was expecting a new DVD player for my birthday and I did not get it.

My job coach keeps picking at me and I don't like it.

I feel sick to my stomach and even though I told my mom and the nurse at Phase, no one believes me.

I was sitting at the table and when I got up to put my notebook away, someone took my chair.

Someone took my chair and even though I asked them to please move, they told me to go find another place and I wanted my chair back.

I heard that some of my friends were going to McDonalds for lunch on Friday and they did not invite me to go. I am feeling very left out and it hurts my feelings.

I brought my favorite movie "Toy Story" to share at Phase and when it was time to go home, my teacher said that she could not find it. she said to go home and not to worry, but, I am very worried.